

Editorial note

The Department of Entomology of the National Museum in Prague has been issuing four publication series, each of them with a separate ISSN number:

1) Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae (ISSN 0374-1036; originally published as Sborník entomologického oddělení Národního muzea v Praze, ISSN 0862-0423). This journal was founded in 1923 and its publication was renewed after a break of almost a decade in 2005.

2) Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae, Supplementum (ISSN 0231-8571; originally published as Sborník entomologického oddělení Národního muzea v Praze, Supplementum, ISSN 0862-0415) is a supplement series of Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae, with irregular publications of monographs or special issues on various topics. Eleven volumes of the supplement series appeared so far, the last one in 2007.

3 and 4) Acta Faunistica Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae (ISSN 0554-9264) and its supplement series Acta Faunistica Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae, Supplementum (ISSN 0551-7931). Both of them ceased to appear in the 1980s and were de facto discontinued. Even during their existence, the two series did not have a distinct profile and overlapped to a large extent with the main series Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae.

Given these circumstances, the Department of Entomology has suggested to discontinue and formally merge the journals Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae, Supplementum; Acta Faunistica Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae; and Acta Faunistica Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae, Supplementum, with Acta Entomologica Musei Nationalis Pragae. This journal will continue to appear, twice a year from 2008 onwards, under the same name with ISSN 0374-1036.

Petr Kment
editor-in-chief